GOP Offers New Rights Proposal

Leaves Jury Trial Decision Up To Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the blessing of President Eisenhower, the House Republican leadership Wednesday proposed a civil rights compromise clotching federal judges with limited powers to punish for criminal contempt without a jury trial.

If the Democrats agreed to this change, the GOP leaders said, the Republicans in the House would accept a modified version of the Senate civil rights bill.

Judge To Decide

The Republican leadership proposed that in voting rights cases where a person is accused of criminal contempt of a federal court injunction, the judge "in his sole discretion" would decide whether there is to be a jury trial or not.

If he tried the case without a jury, he could mete out no higher penalties than 90 days in jail and a $300 fine.

If he decided on a jury trial, the defendant, if convicted, might be jailed for as much as six months and fined $1,000.

Under Present Bill

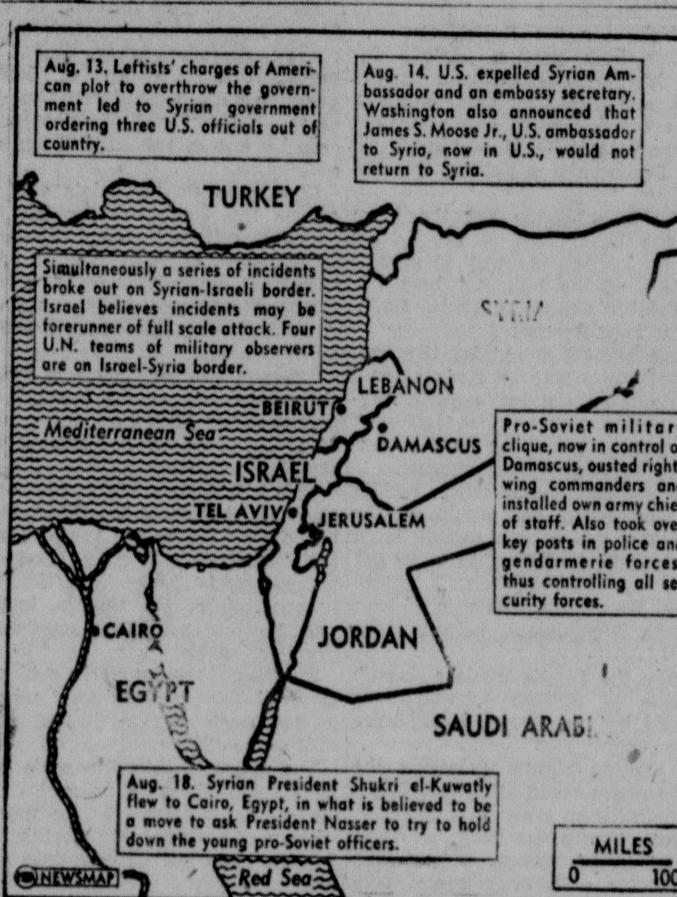

Under the Senate bill as it now stands, a person would be guaranteed a jury trial in criminal contempt cases and if convicted would be liable to a fine of up to $1,000 and imprisonment of up to six months.

The widely heralded GOP compromise move immediately led to an appraisal by House Democrats as to whether they would agree to this way out of a stalemate that has blocked the measure since Senate passage Aug. 7.

SYRIAN CRISIS GROWS

Events leading up to the Syrian crisis, the most serious Middle East crisis since Egypt seized the Suez Canal in July 1956, are outlined in boxes on Newsmap above. Syria, a country of 74,000 square miles inhabited by almost 4,000,000 people, is of great strategic importance, lying athwart pipelines running from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean Sea. A pro-Soviet clique of army officers, led by leftist Gen. Afif Bizry, is apparently in control of the country. Moscow has been cultivating Syria vigorously with arms shipments and aid. In Washington, U.S. and British officials opened consultations on the thorny Syrian problem and Russia's attempt to make Syria the Soviet Union's first Middle East satellite nation.

Syria Announces Arrests In Alleged U.S. Conspiracy Plot

DAMASCUS, (AP) — Syria announced officially for the first time Wednesday the arrest of army officers accused of conspiring with the United States to overthrow the Syrian government.

A government spokesman said some arrests have been made but added that security measures prevented identifying the officers until an investigation is ended.

Gen. Afif Bizry, the new Syrian army chief of staff, said earlier that 10 army officers are being investigated to determine whether they had a part in the alleged conspiracy and that other dismissals, resignations or arrests might follow the investigation.

Bizry said Tuesday that "gangsters made in America" had plotted to kill him and other Syrian military leaders in a mass assassination.

The U. S. State Department has labelled charges of a U. S. plot to overthrow the Syrian regime as a complete fabrication.

Bizry and other Syrian officials at all government levels also denied published reports that the rise to power represented a pro-Soviet coup d'état in Syria. Bizry scoffed at the idea that the army has seized control of Syria's government.

The departure of President Shukri Kuwatly for Egypt last Sunday led to reports of a take-over by what were called pro-Soviets elements. In this connection the recently negotiated Syrian-Soviet economic accord also was mentioned.

But a high government official said that the army has seized control of Syria's government.

Eisenhower thus provided the first top level U.S. reaction to a week-long strain on American-Syrian relations provoked by Russia's strongest bid yet for a Middle East satellite.

The strikers won a 70 cents per hour wage increase spread over three years.

Ike Says Russia Trying To Make Satellite Of Syria

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower accused Russia Wednesday of trying to make Syria a satellite of international communism.

The President told his news conference that the trait of events in Syria is following a familiar Soviet pattern: Military-economic aid, appeal to nationalism, planting of agents and "stooges," and finally a take-over.

But so far, Eisenhower said, it is not one of those instances that "justify any kind of action at all" under the Mideast doctrine."

He added it is impossible to know yet whether the pattern will complete its "ultimate aim"—handing the country over to "international communism and subordination to the views of Moscow."

One reason it is impossible to tell yet, Eisenhower said, is that a Syrian security detachment has been thrown up outside the American embassy in Damascus. This has created "difficulty in really unearthing what is going on," he said.

Eisenhower thus provided the first top level U.S. reaction to a week-long strain on American-Syrian relations provoked by Russia's strongest bid yet for a Middle East satellite.

Ike Firm In Urging Senate Grant Foreign Aid Funds Requested

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday he is very firm in urging the Senate to vote him all the foreign aid funds that he has asked. Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) said the Senate's decision will depend "on the evidence, and not on the cry of wolf."

Eisenhower told his news conference that in discussing the House cut of $89 million in new aid money, "I would like to be very firm."

He said he takes this position because: "I honestly believe that we are sacrificing the tool that means more to our leadership in holding together the voluntary federation that must combat communism in the world than any other thing."

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, emerged later from a closed session at which the Senate Appropriations Committee was discussing the aid program and told newsmen:

"Senators cannot discharge their responsibility on the basis of unsupported assertions. The thing we must get is how the money is being spent and why the administration must have more than the House provided."

The House last week voted $2,524,760,000 in new aid money, compared with Eisenhower's request for $3,367,000,000. It also reappropriated $667,000,000, which was about 50 millions more than Eisenhower had asked.

Johnson said he will support some increase in the amount voted by the House. He expressed confidence the final Senate figure will be completely adequate but said the amount could only be fixed after hearing all the evidence.

Youths Gather In Rome For Rally, Congress

ROME (AP) — Youths from all over the world poured into Rome Wednesday for a rally and congress of Young Christian Workers, a Roman Catholic youth organization.

Thirty thousand from 75 countries are expected by Saturday when the rally begins.

Pope Pius XII will address the congress Sunday.

Among the arrivals were 215 Americans. They came in three chartered Pan American planes from New York.

A Chicago secretary, Anne Marie Murray, 22, said, "We had a real good trip. The kids were wonderful. Nobody got sick."

A 25-year-old pharmacist of Indianapolis, Ind., Patrice Sexton, said she was looking forward to meeting young people from other nations during the next few days.

Ike Signs Bill Authorizing U.S. Build A - Reactors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday signed a bill authorizing preliminary work on a program for government-built nuclear power reactors. He said he doesn't oppose these preliminaries but would oppose spending federal money to build the reactors.

Senate Democrats had proposed a reactor-building program over vigorous administration opposition. The program was scaled down considerably before Congress passed the authorizing legislation Tuesday.

Eisenhower said in a statement that the measure which he signed is a great improvement indeed over bills introduced early in the session ... to build and operate a number of full-scale power reactors at a cost for construction alone of 400 million dollars of public money."

The President said he was glad "Congress saw the undesirability of proceeding with that program."

At the same time, he noted the bill directed the Atomic Energy Commission to proceed with planning for two reactors which he said the commission considers unnecessary and undesirable at this time.

"While I am not opposed to such projects as studies by the commission," he said, "I wish to make it clear that I will oppose the expenditure of public money for construction and operation of any large-scale power reactor, or any prototype thereof, unless private enterprise has first received reasonable opportunity to bear or share the cost."

U.S. Offers Concession In Disarmament Policy

Conditionally Accepts 2-Year Ban On A-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, in a gesture of concession to Russia, agreed conditionally Wednesday to accept a two-year suspension of nuclear weapons tests provided Russia agrees to a permanent cutoff of atomic weapons production.

President Eisenhower authorized this "significant change" in U. S. disarmament policy and personally announced it immediately after it was presented to Russia at the disarmament talks in London. Previously the United States had insisted on a 10-months limit on suspending tests.

The White House clearly wanted the concession to make a maximum impact on world opinion.

How much impact the new move will make on the London negotiations is momentarily uncertain but a Russian attack on the overall Western position in Wednesday's disarmament meeting indicated that the negotiations were still tightly deadlocked.

Soviet representative Valerian Zorin told the Western negotiators that if the United States and its allies intend seriously to end atomic and hydrogen weapons tests they must renounce any link between that issue and "other aspects of the disarmament question."

U.S. Conditions

In sharp contrast with this recent emphasis of the standard Moscow position, Eisenhower's statement declared that American acceptance of a two-year test suspension is specifically conditioned on Soviet acceptance of "a permanent cessation of production of fissile materials for weapons purposes and installation of inspection systems to insure performance."

The White House statement said that Canada, France and Britain had joined in presenting the two-year proposal. It called the proposal "a major step toward reaching a sound and safeguarded first-step arms control agreement."

U.S. Agreement

The President said he "sincerely" hopes that Russia will now agree to Western disarmament proposals, which also call for reductions in conventional armaments and cuts in the size of military forces. He declared that until the first-step agreement becomes effective the United States will continue to conduct "such nuclear testing as our security requires."

Would Take Year

Russia Opposes West's A-Test Ban If Tied With Conditions

LONDON (AP) — Russia said Wednesday it opposes the West's new compromise proposal for a two-year ban on nuclear weapons tests as long as it remains hedged by conditions.

But Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin left an opening for a change of mind in the five-power subcommittee of the U. N. Disarmament Commission.

The conditional Western offer was outlined at the 149th meeting of the disarmament group. Zorin promised careful study and indicated he would need several clarifications.

The Western compromise offer advanced as part of a limited East-West disarmament pact contains too many unacceptable conditions, Zorin said.

In Washington President Eisenhower described the two - stage tests moratorium proposal as a sound and safeguard first step toward disarmament.

Harold E. Stassen, the U. S. delegate, termed the Western proposal a "serious endeavor to move toward agreement with the Soviet Union." Stassen said he hoped it would be a major move that might narrow the East-West gap.

The 21-year-old Bedwell broke into the news last year when he confessed a part in the slaying of Barbara and Patricia Grimes at Chicago.

He later recanted and was cleared in that case but a girl from nearby Oak Hill, Fla., identified him from news pictures as a man she said raped her while he was here as a roustabout with a carnival last year.

Before the case went to the jury two Negro women and a constable testified that the girl apparently enjoyed living with Bedwell in a shack during the carnival.

In his testimony, Bedwell — clear shaven and calm — said the girl identified him in Chicago by his wife's scars he didn't have when he dated her with her parents, consent in March

Spending And Inflation

William Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, had some sober words of caution the other day on the subject of inflation. He warns us not to try to do too much too fast.

Basically America today is in a period of expansion, but the present is not a boom phase. Some parts of the economy are moving ahead, others are lagging. In Martin's view, these mixed trends produce imbalances which must be brought into adjustment if we are to avoid trouble.

He noted, for instance, that total U.S. output went up 10 billion dollars last year but half of that increase represented simply higher prices rather than greater production of goods and services.

He suggested that some enterprises may be expanding too rapidly and thus developing temporary overcapacity.

To Martin, curbing inflation is an elemental matter of reducing spending and boosting savings. By this process, money goes out of circulation and the pressures on the price structure are eased.

He thinks we've had too much spending recently in relation to savings, but there are signs we may now be heading toward a better balance which could lessen inflationary dangers.

Americans always have been great anticipators. If the long-range trend is toward expansion, they like to spend the money now for what lies ahead.

What Martin seems to be saying is that we will all be better off, that the economy will keep in better balance, if we don't try to spend today what we ought to keep in our pocketbooks until tomorrow.

And that goes both for the ordinary consumer and the enterprisers eager to put up another batch of factories.

"Actually, I'd kill any one with my bare hands who tried to get the part away from me," he said, cheerfully knotting his big fists. "But not because it suits my missionary urge, or because it suits my politics—although I am so Republican it makes my skin crack. It's simply because the role itself is so overwhelming. I'd be glad to play the Devil—if he gets enough good lines."

The public may confuse Massey with Mr. L'—as the actor refers to him—but Massey himself, when offstage, enjoys playing nobody other than Raymond Massey, an actor proud of his craft.

Over a plate of cold cuts at the Century Club, Massey took a few warm whacks at what he considers wrong with the U.S. entertainment world.

"American acting, as exemplified by Marlon Brando, is the best in the world," he said, "but I think that some of his imitators represent the American theater at its worst."

"I don't believe in the modern theory of self-identification in the theater, and never have. I don't think you go to the theater to see yourself on the stage (you go to be entertained), and I don't think the actor can identify himself in the role he plays."

"If he does, he can't be an actor. He's a dead duck. An actor portrays emotions in a role—he doesn't feel them."

man who took Abraham Lincoln off the penny and made him a living image again. To them he is Lincoln.

"When people ask me if I don't get tired of portraying Lincoln, I set a definite homicidal urge," remarked Massey, pointing out that it is nearly 16 years since he opened on Broadway in Robert Sherwood's "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

"Since then I have played him only a few times in radio and television."

But next month he will portray the great emancipator again during a 72-city road tour of Norman Corwin's "The Rivalry," the story of the famed Lincoln-Douglas debates.

Massey is happy to return to his most famous role, but for his own reasons.

Thoughtful, Disciplined
Teen-Ager Deserves Trust

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Writes Mrs. R. "Our 17-year-old daughter is dating a 23-year-old man. We feel he's too experienced for her and need any reassurance you can give. Though we've met his people, we don't know them well as they are newcomers to our community..."

I'm being asked, I think, whether Miss R. is a sexually responsible girl.

Instead of answering, let me put some questions: Can Miss R. save money to buy something genuinely satisfying? Does she enjoy the children she baby-sits for? Does she give thoughtful Christmas presents? Is she proud of her salad dressing and mocha cake layer? Is she pleased when her mother buys a becoming dress?

If "Yes" is the answer to these questions, I myself would expect sexual responsibility from Miss R.

For a daughter's response to sex is not mysterious, detached from her other known responses to her life, but is made of the very same character material.

If she can discipline her impulses to buy cheap blouses to accumulate the price of a well-tailored suit, she is not apt to indulge her sexual impulses to no satisfying purpose. If she gives thoughtful Christmas presents, she's accustomed to thinking in terms of other people's needs. She's unlikely to inflict panic, guilt and social condemnation on a young man she's interested in.

If she delights in children and takes pride in her homemaking skills, she's a girl who prizes her potentialities as a woman. She will expect young men to appreciate them, too.

If she is pleased when her mother buys a becoming dress, she's nearly outgrown competitiveness with mother. Sure of her attractiveness, she will feel no need to purchase male reassurance with inappropriate sexual favors.

We parents are not in the dark when it comes to judging a daughter's sexual responsibility. Our answer lies in our own knowledge of her self-appreciation.

If we feel we can't judge it, it may be because we still think of our own sexuality as something that had nothing to do with us as a person. We remember it as an outside mysterious force like lightning that could knock us down and kill us if we didn't run for safety.

Map Fight Against Red Drive

To Grab Nationality Groups

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A

counterattack has been launched

here against recently revealed

Communist Party efforts to infiltrate

nationally groups in the U.S. Communist leaders apparently decided at their last convention to try to move into our numerous, big nationality organizations. Their meeting revealed that the party was having trouble surviving and it was decided that these groups might be fruitful recruiting areas.

The first person to deny that nationality groups are vulnerable to Communist recruiting was colorful Judge Blair F. Gunther, judge of the State Superior Court of Pennsylvania. And as head of the new National Confederation of American Ethnic Groups, he is going to lead the fight against the Communists.

JUDGE GUNTHER is a genial, beefy individual with a sharp legal mind and vast experience in his own nationality group. He is chairman of the board of the Polish National Alliance. It is the largest Polish fraternal group in the U.S. with chapters in all 48 states and a membership well over 360,000.

During World War II, Judge Gunther acted as liaison between U.S. Army Intelligence and U.S. Poles who could provide information and help in the fight against the Nazis. Most of the details of this work are still secret.

The organization is incorporated as a nonprofit civic and educational association in the District of Columbia. It has been supported financially so far by donations from member organizations.

Officials of the group in recent conference with Judge Gunther began making plans for setting up regional and local chapters. Preliminary plans have already been made for the publication of a national magazine by the group.

THE NCAEG which Judge Gunther heads has other goals, but its effort to fight Communist infiltration of nationality societies is the one which interests him most. Its headquarters is in Washington.

"It's basically a question of alerting these organizations to the fact that the Communists would like to take them over," he explains. "I think that once we acquaint all members of the groups with the fact that they have become the target of the Reds and expose some of their methods of infiltration, we will have checked the big danger."

THE NCAEG, after two years of organizational effort, now is composed of 52 nationality organizations which have a combined membership of more than 17 million. Of its general goals Judge Gunther says:

"The confederation is strictly non-partisan, having many Republicans, Democrats and Independents in our ranks. We are primarily interested in issues and the way these issues are handled, not in personalities or one's party affiliations.

"We aim at full and fair recognition in the higher courts, in Congress and on all policy-making bodies of the government. In the foreign policy field we will support the basic principles of liberation, self-determination and full sovereignty for all peoples and all nations."

THE OTHER OFFICERS OF the organization reveal the wide base of its membership. Vice presidents include Stanley Kotula, president of the Polish National Union of America; Rev. Fr. Armand Morisette, a member of French, French-Canadian and Belgian ethnic groups; Philip A. Hrobak, president of the Slovak League of America, and Savas G. Sapounakis, an official of the Greek society, AHEPA.

Other officers include representatives from Lithuanian, Armenian, Italian, Czechoslovakian, German and Spanish nationality groups. Paul Deac who has been prominent in French and Romanian ethnic organizations is the executive vice president.

Historic Nauvoo To Hold Grape Festival

NAUVOO, Ill. — During Nauvoo's 20th Annual Grape Festival, largest in the Midwest, will wend their way to the Nauvoo State Park.

Each evening at the State Park, one time site of a 500-lodge Indian village, "Quashquema," the people of Nauvoo will relive her colorful past in the historic pageant, "Quashquema to Nauvoo." The pageant is climaxed with the "Wedding of the Wine and Cheese," a century-old custom borrowed from Roquefort, France where, like Nauvoo, the main industry is the manufacture of Roquefort (Blue) Cheese and natural grape wines.

These three days Nauvoo's population will far exceed its peak during the Mormon period when it reached 20,000 while Chicago was a mere 5,000.

Down this street and past many old Mormon landmarks, the Pet Parade on Saturday afternoon will be held on Saturday afternoon.

The visitors will be treated to several tons of grapes from Nauvoo's first vineyard. In 1830 Alois Reimberger planted this vineyard and in his memoirs wrote "Today I am planting 500 grape vines and hope someday this grows into a large industry."

Conducted lecture tours to the historic sites and buildings will be feature during this year's festival.

As in the years past the visitors will bring along a carnival spirit and browse around a spot so rich in history it would take a large volume to tell the complete story. They will visit Joseph Smith's Homestead, the Mansion House, Brigham Young's Home and many others, winding up at the historic museum. Here they will see many Indian relics, articles from the Icarians and Mormon days and will be shown through the old French Wine Cellar and Press House.

Bands, parades, rides, balls and free acts will help round out a festive weekend for both young and old at the 20th Annual Nauvoo Grape Festival.

For more information call 5-6430.

Light refreshment

MODERN people have little time for yesterday's heavy foods. They pack their picnic baskets with light, less-filling food and drink—and they look and feel better for it.

Pepsi-Cola, too, takes this modern point of view about sensible diet. Never heavy, never too sweet today's Pepsi is reduced in calories. Pick up a few cartons of Pepsi to enjoy at the beach, to refresh without filling wherever you week end.

Jon Barlow, Former Greene Man, Weds Judith Bowles

ROODHOUSE—At four o'clock the afternoon of August 10 Miss Judith Ann Bowles of Downers Grove became the bride of Jon C. Barlow of Roodhouse in Thornridge Hilton Memorial Chapel in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Robert C. Moore. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The Chapel was decorated with mums, asters and candelabra. The church organist played traditional nuptial music.

Gown Of Satin
The bride was lovely in a white organdy over satin ballerina length gown, with white organdy embroidered with silver thread and fashioned with a fitted bodice. She wore a tiara decorated with seed pearls and an elbow length blusher veil. She carried a bouquet of white spider mums. Miss Carlie Farwell wore a gown of lavender organdy with deep purple trim similar in style to the bride's gown. She carried purple asters and wore a large picture hat.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in cloister adjoining the Chapel.

The newlyweds honeymooned in the Smoky Mountains and will reside in LaGrange, Ill.

Mrs. Barlow graduated in 1957 from the Knox College in Galesburg and is now a teacher in elementary schools at Western Springs, Ill.

Pvt. Dalton 'Can Take Picture At Midnight'

"It is light up here 20 of the 24 hours, and I mean light. I could easily take a picture at midnight."

That is the description Pvt. Donald Dalton gave of the region in Iceland where he is now based.

Dalton, an employee of the Jacksonville Journal Courier press room-stereotype department, is serving his hitch with Uncle Sam in Iceland, after basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

"This is about the most desolate place I have ever seen," Pvt. Dalton wrote to friends. "I am stationed at Keflavik Air Force Base, located near a small town by the same name.

"There is little to do here and practically nothing to see. They say after you once go to town that you seldom ever go back, there being two reasons—first, because the people don't care for Americans; secondly, because there is nothing to do after you get there.

"We are stationed here for only 12 months because of the isolation of this place. The long night starts sometime in September. We have the best meals I have even seen in the Army." Pvt. Dalton was at Fort Dix, N. J., only five days before transfer to the base in Iceland.

DID ELMER COMMIT SUICIDE?

JERSEYVILLE — Edward Beard, East Carpenter street locality blacksmith, possesses unusual ability in the training of native fur bearing animals.

Just now, Beard is training a young coon which he obtained about four months ago from the Lee Nall farm east of Jerseyville. The four months old coon is called Jack and plays about the blacksmith shop and premises like a dog or cat. The animal responds to orders from Beard with remarkable displays of intelligence regarding the orders given by Beard.

Jack has taken the place of Elmer, a fully grown coon which Beard owned for more than a year. Elmer lost his life by hanging when the chain fastened to his collar got fouled up in the rafters of the building where he had been kept. Elmer was also highly intelligent and well-trained as coons go. Beard still believes in the possibility Elmer may have committed suicide.

REPORT MALLARDS NESTING IN AREA

JERSEYVILLE — Not all wild ducks went north to the Canadian nesting grounds to rear their young this season. Reports have been received from time to time regarding mallards that have stopped in Central Illinois to nest.

C. E. Wedding reported here Monday afternoon that a pair of mallards nested in the Bell Slough vicinity not far from his farm in the Macoupin Creek locally nine miles northeast of Jerseyville. The birds had not been crippled by gun fire as is sometimes the case where ducks seek to nest in the locality. The pair of mallards raised seven fine young ones this season, and are still utilizing the Bell Slough waters.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Somewhere, somehow — if he keeps going — Ted Williams is going to get the only thing he wanted out of baseball this season: acceptance as a hitter. Since he walked into the Red Sox camp at Sarasota, Fla., in 1939 he has wanted this and nothing else, but he found people were more concerned with the wilder side of Williams than they were with his smooth swing.

Through the years, Williams has chopped apart American League pitching staffs, but all people seemed willing to talk of was his personal life. It enraged the big guy and he showed it in a violent series of obscene gestures and spitting at crowds.

Legends cropped up quickly, too. You were told (a) he never hit when it counted, (b) he cared about nothing but his batting average, ruining Red Sox morale when at it and (c) he never won pennants.

BUT NOW, A 39-YEAR-OLD man, he is in the middle of a hit-filled duel with Mickey Mantle for the triple crown of American League batting. He also is saying nothing to anybody. So if people are going to talk about Williams, they wind up with his shouting at bat and nothing else.

For Williams, it probably is the best season, irritation-wise, he's ever had. Once he stumbled past his big spring blast at the politicians he feels were responsible for his being called back to service during the Korean War, Ted let his bat talk.

He always maintained he is a great hitter for a couple of basic reasons. One, he'd tell you, is that he was born with the ability. And the other is that he dedicated himself to improving his talents.

This theory is borne out probably more this year than ever before. Around him, ball players three and four years younger are starting to slide. But Ted is battling 25-year-old Mantle for the chips. How does it is simple. Condition, for one thing. He is a bug on taking Vitamin A for his eyesight and his ideas of a diet are strict. He never, for example, eats a big meal after two in the afternoon if a night game is scheduled. And Williams off the field is a guy who either can be found doing sit-ups or squeezing muscle-building gadgets.

IN THE MIDDLE of the season, a statistician went to work and came up with a table that showed Williams, the hitter over the years, had been a bit more than a handicap to the Red Sox. In some quarters, this came as a surprise. Particularly one statistic that brought out Williams' totals as a home run hitter in the clutch. This one made him to be another Ruth.

With all this around him, Williams talks of his rival, Mantle, when he does talk. It's obvious Ted is jealous of one item concerning Mickey. "He's 25," Williams keeps telling you. "He's got his whole career in front of him. I don't think anybody is going to hit .400 this year, but Mantle is going to do it some year. He's going to break Ruth's record, too. I said that last year and I'll say it now."

"A whole career," he keeps saying, "a whole career in front of him."

Ted, it seems, would like to get back a few of those years — as long as they all come out like this one. They talk of him as a hitter now. To him, that's as it always should have been.

Chisox Score Six Unearned Runs In 3rd Beat Senators, 12-6

Piersall Homers As Red Sox Beat Indians, 3-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ted Williams went hitless again Wednesday night against Cleveland Indians, but teammate Jim Piersall homered for the second straight night to give the Boston Red Sox a 3-1 victory.

It ended a Boston losing streak at five games.

Williams, who had been clobbering Indian pitchers at a .532 clip until this series, went 0 for 2 Tuesday night and 0 for 4 Wednesday night. His batting average dropped another five points to .385. He grounded out twice and fanned twice, once against starter and loser Mike Garcia and once against relief Dick Tomaneck.

Piersall's two-run homer, his 12th of the season, came in the third inning off Garcia, who got his eighth loss in 14 decisions. It scored pitcher Willard Nixon, who had singled.

Boston .002 000 001—3 8 3
Cleveland .000 000 010—1 7 0

W. Nixon, Delock (8) and Dickey, Garcia, Tomaneck (8) and R. Nixon, W-W. Nixon. L-Garcia.

NEW YORK (AP) — Navy Capt. Elliott Loughlin said, "will play in bowl games when it has a good season, and beats Army."

The first part of the remark was rather redundant, as any time Navy beat Army it is a good football season.

Loughlin, who is being replaced by Capt. Slade Cutler as director of athletics at the U.S. Naval Academy, was clarifying a statement by Cutler that Navy would play bowl games anytime, as it needed the dough to pay for the new stadium.

Cutter, the best darned flute player ever to kick a field goal to beat Army, has been on submarine duty for 20 years, so naturally in coming up for air he has to get oriented to the situation on land.

He was rated one of the three or four top sub commanders in World War II, accounting for 19 enemy ships and holding more decorations than he could pin on at one time.

It was in the rain and mud at Philadelphia's Franklin Field in 1934 that Cutter booted the 19-yard field goal to give the Midshipmen their first victory over the Cadets in 13 years. It was the third time during the season his kick had won a game.

Looking at him now it's hard to imagine him as a gangly kid playing the flute in the high school band at Oswego, Ill.

"I had taken piano lessons for five years," he explained, "and then I jammed up this finger."

He showed a middle finger which had a permanent crook at the first joint.

"So I took up the flute, as it doesn't take so much pressure from your fingers. As usual, the smallest guy played the tuba and here I was, tall and gangly, carrying that little flute. On top of that, I switched to the piccolo, as you could take it apart and stick it in your pocket when you weren't playing."

The champion did not say what action he thought Governor Harriman might take, but he insisted he was not trying to put pressure on the athletic commission. The governor was on a trip to western New York.

The commission has summoned all parties concerned to a special meeting next Monday at 11:30 a.m. to look into the whole affair.

Norris, apparently somewhat bewildered by the unexpected turn of events, said he would agree to almost anything short of Robinson's demand that the closed circuit theater TV program should be handled by Teleprompter Corp.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

AFTER LATE RALLY

By RUSSELL LANE
CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market closed steady to firm with a late rally on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday.

Although technical considerations were involved in the various commodities, it seemed that buyer activity was touched off by a chain-reaction from sudden processor demand for soybean meal.

Cash meal went to $55 after a 50-cent reduction Tuesday, and the August meal futures contract rose 400 points to $57 in short covering.

The parent crop futures responded with gains up to 28 cents, and then selling resistance faded in the other crops. Only hard futures were down at the close.

Wheat closed 11 to 18 cents a bushel higher; September $2.18-18; corn 1 to 1 higher; September $1.36-14; oats 12 to 14 cents higher; September $6.66 cents; rye unchanged to 11 higher; September $1.34-13; soybeans 12 to 28 higher; September $2.40-24.40; and hard 8 to 28 cents a bushelweight lower, September $12.57.

Earlier in the session, prices were mostly lower under liquidation and hedge selling pressure, and buying was not aggressive.

The arrival of cool, cloudy weather over much of the soybean growing region with plants still in the podding stage took on significance when the short position in the August meal delivery was assessed.

The census bureau report on July soybean crushings showed substantially less processing than many dealers had supposed was the case. The July crushings were 23,966 bushels, against 24,693,000 in June.

All indicated to some interests that future delivery commitments should be bought at current general levels, in case that the new crop doesn't come in abundantly.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. government bonds scored their best gains in more than a month Wednesday in fairly active trading.

Corporate bonds were irregularly higher, with convertible debentures and high grade issues in demand.

The treasury's 40-year 3s were bid up 18-32 at 88 8-32, and the 30-year 3 1-4s up 18-32 at 93 8-32. The victory 2 1-2s of December, 1972-67 closed at 87 14-32 bid, up 16-32.

Dealers said they noted a definite improvement in the government bond market. They attributed this in part to the quick sell-out of a new $60-million dollar issue of 5 1-4 per cent debentures of Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. In addition, they pointed to the recent statement by federal reserve board chairman Martin that interest rates may be about level out.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's recovery from the big break of Monday continued Wednesday but volume dwindled.

The market followed through on Tuesday's comeback with a steady advance which carried into the afternoon. Then short-term traders began to take profits. Some of the best gains were trimmed or cancelled by the close.

Gary Hurrelbrink was near the tractor when the flames broke out and received painful burns on his right hand and arm. He was rushed to the hospital in an automobile.

Tractor Damaged By Fire; Man Burned

One man was painfully burned and a tractor badly damaged in a fire at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning on the farm of Roscoe Mawson, one half mile west of the Wesley Chapel church.

Gary Hurrelbrink was taken to Passavant Memorial Hospital suffering from burns on his right hand and arm, but was released after receiving treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Royle and family of Sterling, who are spending a few days here with Royle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Bell, were guests of honor at a picnic supper Monday evening at the Bell home. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crane and family of Edwardsville; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Scott, Rockbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scott and sons, Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Crotchet and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carr of Kane; Mrs. Ollie Henkel of Hettick; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. They had some difficulty in getting the tractor started and it finally broke into flames.

The Winchester fire department was called and arrived at the scene within a few minutes and soon had the blaze extinguished.

The tractor was badly damaged but the sheller escaped the flames. The tractor was valued at $3,500.

When the fire broke out Mr. Mawson was attending a burgoo at the Wesley Chapel church and arrived a few minutes after the fire started.

Gary Hurrelbrink was near the tractor when the flames broke out and received painful burns on his right hand and arm. He was rushed to the hospital in an automobile.

U.S. Offers Disarmament Concession

(Continued from Page One)ately it would still take a year to work out a treaty, bring many other nations into it and get it ratified by the U.S. Senate and other parliamentary bodies. Thus under the best possible conditions, which actually are not in sight now, a test suspension could not become effective before the fall of 1958.

Earlier Proposal

The proposal for a 10-month test suspension was made last spring shortly after Eisenhower had laid down a broad range of new American decisions on disarmament policy.

The maximum suspension which U.S. negotiator Harold Stassen was authorized to agree to then was one year. His 10-months offer to the Russians as part of an over-all disarmament package was a bargaining offer leaving him two months leeway.

Could Be Extended

Eisenhower added that it is not a case that justifies action under his Middle East economic and military aid program to head off Red Subversion in the region.

But the U. S. 6th Fleet is ready to swing east through the Mediterranean if necessary, a Navy spokesman said in Washington.

The spokesman denied reports the fleet had already sailed into the eastern Mediterranean where two Soviet cruisers were said to be ranging. U. S. Fleet units saluted last Saturday for long-planned exercises west of the toe of Italy, the spokesman asserted.

Thus, what is really new about the offer announced Wednesday is a presidential decision to make a firm proposition now for the additional 12 months period of test suspension. Behind the decision is a desire to give the sagging London negotiations a new shot in the arm and to make maximum propaganda use of a position which the United States might have developed in the future anyway.

Italians Offer to Extend

It was always understood in the foreign here that the 10 months or one-year suspension, if everything else worked out well, could be extended for an additional period while other disarmament measures were being made effective.

Thus, what is really new about the offer announced Wednesday is a presidential decision to make a firm proposition now for the additional 12 months period of test suspension. Behind the decision is a desire to give the sagging London negotiations a new shot in the arm and to make maximum propaganda use of a position which the United States might have developed in the future anyway.

East St. Louis Livestock REQUESTED FUNDS FOR FOREIGN AID

(Continued from Page One)tration aid experts on funds available from previous appropriations and other sources. Johnson said Tuesday he had been told these available monies add up to about 12 billion dollars, a figure challenged by Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California.

Sen. Thye (R-Minn) said supporters of the aid program will try to win committee approval of at least three billions in new funds. He conceded the committee was closely divided on whether to boost the House figures.

Eisenhower said "it goes without saying that I hope the Senate will put back every cent" the House cut from the bill. Beyond that, he said, he hopes that when Senate-House conferees eventually sit down to work out a compromise between the two branches of Congress, the Senate will get the "very best deal" possible.

Eisenhower was asked if he might call Congress into special session if his aid request falls short.

He replied that he will be "very anxiously watching the developing world situation, and certainly wouldn't call a special session unless it were absolutely necessary."

AD. CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP)—Active demand on light receipts reversed the week's earlier downturn on hog prices, with sales generally 25 to 50 cents higher than Tuesday in the Chicago market.

Salable arrivals numbered 6,000—about 75 per cent of estimates—and shippers bought about 2,000.

The butcher top was $21.15, only 10 cents under Monday, for one lot of No. 1 butchers.

With weights over 230 pounds scarce, barrows and gilts close to this weight grading No. 2 and 3 brought $20.25 to $20.50.

On 14,000 offerings, the cattle market opened steady, with cows 25 cents higher, but weakness developed on steers.

Three loads of 1240-1340-pound high prime steers brought $20 to $25. Most high choice and prime steers brought 50 cents less, with $28.50 being paid for this kind at 1100 pounds. High choice and prime heifers brought $23 to $26. Standard to choice vealers were sold for $17 to $25.

The sheep market was steady on all classes, with 1,000 receipts. Good to prime 84-94 pound lambs brought $22 to $25.

Ashland Man Killed, Two Others Injured In Crash Near Virginia

One man was killed and two others injured in a head-on collision west of Virginia Wednesday evening.

Frank Scholes, twenty five year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Scholes of rural route one, Ashland, died as a result of the accident which took place between the Virginia Country Club and Bluffs Springs shortly after nine o'clock.

Injured critically in the accident was Harold Shortridge, 25 of Philadelphia, Ill., who was riding in the Scholes car, a late model Ford.

Also injured was the driver of the other car, James B. Mills. Mills has been identified as being about 32 years old and the son-in-law of William J. Derbin, a cashier at the Petefish Skiles and Company Bank in Virginia.

Both Mills and Shortridge were taken to the Schmidt Memorial hospital in Beardstown where it has been determined that Mills is suffering from lacerations about the head. Shortridge, at first examination, seems to be paralyzed from the waist down.

The body of Frank Scholes was taken to the Massie funeral home in Virginia.

Recipients of these scholarship grants agree to remain in the employ of the hospital after graduation, serving one month as a registered nurse at regular pay rates for each $30 of scholarship aid received.

In accordance with the regulations governing the fund, the three students were recommended for scholarships by the Director of Nurses and the Administrator to the chairman of the personnel committee of the Board of Trustees, and were approved by the board at its meeting on Aug. 19. Scholarships are awarded to girls who have been admitted to the school and who have agreed to pledge a period of nursing service after graduation, on the basis of scholarship ability, financial need and residence in the Passavant area.

The granting of three $500 scholarships has nearly depleted the fund created through gifts from churches, organizations and interested individuals. The scholarship fund must be replenished in order that more young people may be able to choose nursing as a profession, and it is hoped that further gifts will be made for this purpose during the year.

Donors so far have included the Congregational church of Waverly, $12.01; Grace Methodist church, $100; First Presbyterian church, $100; Alexander Methodist church, $10; Passavant Area Aid Society, $1,200; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Story, $6; Dr. Albert F. Fricke, $240; Lloyd Philathaea church, $10; Virginia Methodist church, $25; Centenary Methodist church, $60; and Salem Lutheran church, $100.
